GoodVision USA and WEEMA International, partnering to bring vision care to Ethiopia

WEEMA International and Goodvision USA are thrilled to mark the first anniversary of a partnership to provide glasses to children in Central Ethiopia. In our first year working together, we screened 4,000 students and teachers at 15 schools and dispensed over 200 pairs of GoodVision Glasses.

Frehiwot is a 6th grader who loves school and aspires to become an engineer. But she struggled in school to read from a distance. “I sit in the front row, but I struggle to read the blackboard and often have to copy from my friends' notebooks.” Frehiwot had her vision screened and was found to be nearsighted. After further assessment, she received her GoodVision prescription eyeglasses for free. These new glasses brought Frehiwot immense happiness. She declared, “My vision problems are solved, and my glasses are cute!”

WEEMA works in rural communities in Ethiopia’s central highlands to ensure access to clean water, enhance education, empower women and marginalized people, strengthen health systems, and achieve food security. GoodVision USA is dedicated to improving global eye health through innovative solutions and partnerships. GoodVision trains local technicians to provide quality eye care services, including access to affordable glasses. Together, we are making a difference for students in Ethiopia, one pair of glasses at a time.
